

After what the Financial Times termed "intensive" talks between Arafat and Saudi King Khalid and Crown Prince Fahd, in preparation for Fahd's upcoming talks with Carter on the Mideast, Arafat, accompanied by Kaddoumi, departed for Warsaw.

The PLO is also showing new signs of expanding its support for liberation movements in Latin America. In an unusual meeting recently, Arafat extended his support to the Argentine guerrilla movement, the Montoneros. Like the Third World nations of the Mideast and Africa, Argentina has also come under the destabilizing gun of Rockefeller's banks.

Egyptian Left Calls for Arab Common Market

Representatives of Egypt's left National Progressive Union and Nasserists met in Rome this week and denounced the regime of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. Among the participants of the meeting was Lutfi Kholi, the former editor of Al Talia, the newspaper of the Egyptian Communist Party; Khalid Moheiddine, the chairman of the National Progressive Union (NPU); and a journalist from Al Ahram, Mohammed Sid Ahmed.

Moheiddine called for the creation of a front of workers, socialists, intellectuals, and the "productive" national bourgeoisie against Sadat, and announced that the NPU now has 100,000 workers. He called for closer Arab links with the Soviet Union and for the establishment of an Arab front of progressive states and parties.

Kholi warned that the current situation in the Mideast is growing more dangerous because the U.S. is seeking to gain direct control over the Arab oil fields in the Persian Gulf. He called for an independent Arab Common Market, "not like the fake one pushed by the USA, but a real one whose purpose would be to use revenues from oil exports for industrial development."

Syrian Communist Party Statement On Sadat

The situation on the Egyptian-Libyan border is worsening. The Egyptian authorities threaten to undertake military action against Libya, with their press and radio broadcasting false reports against Libya, its political system, its policies in the Arab world and in Africa as well as against the friends of Libya and above the Soviet Union and the Socialist community.

The leadership of the Communist Party of Syria condemns the efforts of the Egyptian authorities to undertake some kind of military action against Libya and calls on the governments of progressive and national liberation forces of the Arab countries to take measures without delay against the danger.

Red Sea: 'Lots Of Scenarios For War'

A possible trigger that could set off a Middle East war is the unsettled situation in and around the Red Sea and its crucial passageway, the Bab el-Mandeb straits at the mouth near the Indian Ocean. A number of sources indicated this week that should the crisis along the Red Sea reach its peak, the Arabs might be provoked into closing down the Bab el-Mandeb straits to Israeli shipping, which in turn would provide Israel with a pretext for going to war against the Arabs — including Saudi Arabia — to break the blockade. In 1967, the closing of the Straits of Tiran near Israel touched off the Six Day War and Israel's preemptive strike.

The political chances for such a scenario to occur are discussed below in a series of interview with experts on the area. It should be kept in mind, however, that there exist a number of possible variants on this basic theme. A source close to Zbigniew Brzezinski's National Security Council put it succinctly: "There are a thousand scenarios."

The central idea regarding this possibility revolves around the upcoming independence of the French colony of Djibouti, nestled between Ethiopia and Somalia near Bab el-Mandeb. Together with the unfolding civil war in the Ethiopian province of Eritrea — where nationalist guerrillas backed by Egypt and Sudan claim to be close to achieving "independence" — the Djibouti situation could provide a handle by which Brzezinski and Co. will destabilize the entire area. What provides the dangerous
