EIR has just released a new Special Report on "Anglo-Soviet Designs on the Arabian Peninsula." The report is the companion to the "Prospects for Instability in the Arabian Gulf," an invaluable counterintelligence manual.

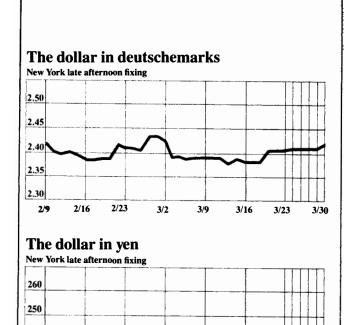

"Anglo-Soviet Designs on the Arabian Peninsula" looks at the prospects of a decline of U.S. influence in the Middle East. It evaluates the impact of the international global monetary crisis on the Arab oil producers of the Gulf. The role of Secretary of State George Shultz and of the Morgan banking group in squeezing additional funds from Saudi Arabia for a purported global bailout of the banking system is fully developed.

The report details evidence of increased Soviet presence in the region, and the cooperation between London and factions of the Soviet leadership to gain dominance over the Gulf states. The final section examines the potential for a "new Yalta" on world energy supplies, at which the Middle East would be carved up between East and West.
