

20 China must play by 'free trade' rules

By Sir Leon Brittan, vice president of the European Commission.

22 The start of a new economic era for a new civilization

By Rui Zingwen, chairman of the China Development and Promotion Commission of the New Euro-Asia Continental Bridge.

28 Iran: an east-west strategic bridge

By A. Broujerdi, Deputy Minister of Foreign Affairs of Iran.

31 Building the Silk Road land-bridge

By Helga Zepp LaRouche, president of the Schiller Institute in Germany and the chairman of the Schiller Institute Board of Directors in the United States.

33 Tennenbaum presents LaRouche's economics

34 History of the new continental bridge

By economist Ma Hong.

36 Provincial leaders and infrastructure experts endorse the 'New Silk Road'

Draft papers by Chinese contributors to the conference.

48 China 25 years later

A personal report by Schiller Institute founder Helga Zepp LaRouche.

International

52 Yeltsin goes for broke in pre-election scramble

Elections are lost and won in the provinces, and there, the President is well aware, he needs the support of the military-industrial complex. But, buying an election is expensive.

54 International Intelligence

Corrections: In EIR, May 24, the article on p. 21, "The Queen's 'Honorary Knights' in America," contained errors respecting British honorary titles, of putative U.S. citizens, which had been supplied by British official sources. Continuing inquiry has developed information from higher authorities. Gen. Colin Powell is actually a Knight Commander of the Order of the Bath, making him the third highest knight in the United States, just below Presidents Reagan and Bush (and above Henry Kissinger). Caspar Weinberger is a Knight Grand Cross of the British Empire.

In the same issue, on p. 25, footnotes 2 and 3 were reversed.

National

72 LaRouche sets the tone for Democratic victory

Having won nearly 600,000 votes during the Presidential primaries, despite a media blackout of his candidacy, LaRouche moves to the next phase of his campaign: "roasting" the fascists who are demanding budget cuts that will lead to the certain death of their poor, sick, and elderly constituents.

75 What does the senator from Mississippi have to Hyde?

A profile of Trent Lott.

77 Scalia feeds frenzy over Supreme Court 'gay rights' ruling

78 National News